Kate Kendall, IHBC's Learning Education, Training and Standards (LETS) Officer is coming to Newcastle for another MATE session, for people interested in joining the IHBC or upgrading their membership.

Members of the branch will be on hand to help answer queries about the application process and give you all the encouragement you need to progress.

Come along! There is no charge, but please book a place (see overleaf).

Kate will start the session with a presentation on the IHBC membership process then breaking out into smaller groups which will allow attendees to ask questions about their own applications and case studies.

As Kate says: 'We know that applications can seem at first like a daunting process. However, the MATE sessions are designed to help you better understand the process and ease you along the way to IHBC membership and formal, professional accreditation with us. We're here to support your application, and want you to succeed.'

Space is limited so if you would like to come please let Kate Kendall know no later than November 15th by emailing lets@ihbc.org.uk
